Code of Conduct

Unless otherwise stated, BACH events and activities operate under the following Code of Conduct:

BACH is dedicated to a harassment-free experience for everyone. The BACH series of events and activities are open, inclusive forums for sharing of ideas. BACH participants include hackers, makers, tinkerers, speakers, vendors, families, students, and everyone else wanting to experience BACH and be part of the BACH community.

It is important for participants to step beyond prejudices, societal norms, and other perspectives that lead to disrespect for people and groups. Everyone is welcome at BACH events and activities, regardless of race, class, gender identity or expression, age, ethnicity, religion, political beliefs, disability, sexual orientation, personal appearance, or education level, text editor choice, and other aspects of who we are.

In short: BACH holds space for tolerance and respect.

BACH strongly values free speech. We also value our attendees / participants, and do not want any to feel marginalized or intimidated. We encourage discussions that address hard topics. We also encourage everyone to think about how offhand comments they make about others may contribute to making some feel unwelcome in this community.

Vendors are encouraged to promote their products or ideas based on their own merits, not on the appearance of their staff. BACH volunteers are available to provide guidance, and to mediate disputes, should they arise.

BACH seeks to ensure no attendee / participant is harassed. This includes, but is not limited to: deliberate intimidation, stalking, following, harassing photography or recording, disruption of talks or other events, inappropriate physical contact, or unwelcome sexual attention.

BACH volunteers reserve the right to eject anyone from events or activities at any time. If you are being harassed, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have related concerns, we encourage you to contact a member of the BACH volunteers immediately, or call our hotline, which will be posted at events / activities.
